CLAUDE

September 15th. Finally, they get the planes going again—and I go down to tell the Make-A-Wish Kids that they're being sent home without getting to Disneyworld after all. But they're not sad about it. They're going on hayrides, canoe rides, and someone dresses up as the town mascot: Commander Gander. And it turns out that if they'd made it to Orlando, they would've got four days of rain.

#12A—Goodbyes

BONNIE is alone in the hangar with the animals.

BONNIE

(to DOUG)

I'm just doing one more litter scoop, and then I'll get them on the planes!

ACTOR 3 meows. BONNIE bends down to a carrier.

Lyle. You're a beautiful cat. I've taped your pill bottle to your carrier and made sure someone'll see it. You did good. You're going to be fine.

ACTOR 3 barks. BONNIE moves along.

Ralph. You're a good cocker spaniel. I know the night security crew ran you a bit ragged, so I want you to sleep on the plane, okay?

ACTOR 3 barks.

Okay.

BONNIE moves again.

... Unga... I've never met a rare Bonobo chimpanzee before. We don't get many of them here in Newfoundland. And since your partner there likes to throw his own feces, I'm going to say that you are the nicest rare Bonobo chimpanzee I've ever met... And I want you to know that I'm sorry... I'm sorry that you lost your baby... I've got three, and some days they're more trouble than they're worth... Anyway. You're going to be okay.

#12B—The Wind Picks Up

BEVERLEY

The winds start to pick up. 50 mile an hour winds. We've been here too long. We're still on the ground and there's a hurricane is coming. And I'm thinking—we're running out of time. We have to leave. We have to leave now.
